

LAST EDITION. THEIR BIG DAY.

The Parochial Schools of Brooklyn Do Honor to Columbus.

25,000 CHILDREN IN LINE.

Sixty Catholic Parishes Represented in the Long Procession.

BISHOP AND MAYOR REVIEW.

American Flag Carried by the Hosts of Lads and Lasses.

New York has paid her tribute to the memory of Christopher Columbus and to-day her sister city, Brooklyn, begins her celebration.

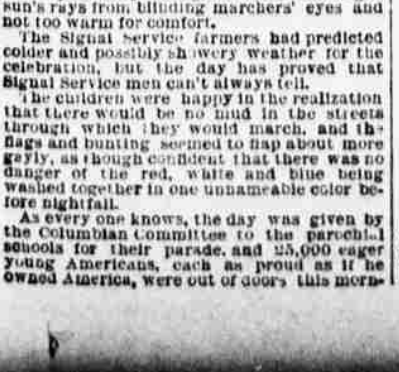

Rev. Father McGovern (of St. Cecilia's). The pastor, it was noticed, were equally watchful, and seemed as eager as any for every one in line to be a good soldier.

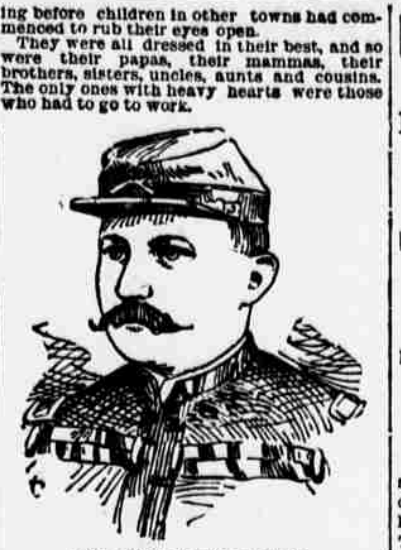

Rev. Father Malone (of St. Peter and Paul). It had been announced for several days that the line of march would be Bedford avenue and Lafayette avenue to Adelphi street, where the parade would be dismissed.

Mayor David H. Hoody. From curbstones to steep-top brownstones and ugly brick are hidden within the folds of acres of bunting. Scarcely a building from East New York to New York Bay has been neglected by its owner, and hardly a block without its picture of a man supposed to be Columbus.

Father E. W. McCarty (Chairman of Executive Committee). What matters it is no two of the pictures are alike. The intention to do honor to the man they represent is just as sincere in every case, and all are satisfied.

Dr. Dent, the Brooklyn hospital ambulance surgeon whose action in refusing medical attendance to Mrs. Mary Morgan last Friday and to Michael Fogarty Tuesday night, was brought to the attention of the Brooklyn health officers by The Evening World.

Rev. Father McGovern (of St. Cecilia's). The pastor, it was noticed, were equally watchful, and seemed as eager as any for every one in line to be a good soldier.

Rev. Father Malone (of St. Peter and Paul). It had been announced for several days that the line of march would be Bedford avenue and Lafayette avenue to Adelphi street, where the parade would be dismissed.

Mayor David H. Hoody. From curbstones to steep-top brownstones and ugly brick are hidden within the folds of acres of bunting. Scarcely a building from East New York to New York Bay has been neglected by its owner, and hardly a block without its picture of a man supposed to be Columbus.

Rev. Father Malone (of St. Peter and Paul). It had been announced for several days that the line of march would be Bedford avenue and Lafayette avenue to Adelphi street, where the parade would be dismissed.

REFORM IS PROMISED. PARADE AT CHICAGO.

Dr. Dent Called Before the Health Commissioner.

He Receives a Lecture on His Duties To-Day.

Hereafter Brooklyn Ambulance Surgeons Will Not Refuse Patients.

Dr. Dent, the Brooklyn hospital ambulance surgeon whose action in refusing medical attendance to Mrs. Mary Morgan last Friday and to Michael Fogarty Tuesday night, was brought to the attention of the Brooklyn health officers by The Evening World.

The Commissioner disclosed his intentions to an Evening World reporter this afternoon after having had an hour's conversation with Ambulance Surgeon Dent.

Dr. Dent told Commissioner Griffin that in the cases of Mrs. Gorman and Michael Fogarty he had acted in accordance with his best judgment of his duties as prescribed by the rules of the Brooklyn Hospital.

Health Commissioner Griffin told him that he must expect all criticisms by the press that his conduct invited.

In the case of Mrs. Gorman, Dr. Dent said he was called to the house and found the woman lying on the floor. After an examination he concluded that she was suffering from alcoholic delirium, arising from the persistent use of liquor.

Dr. Dent did not think Mrs. Gorman would die, and he referred her to the Charities Dispensary. He learned later that she had died.

Dr. Dent said that when called to the lower Fulton street station-house to attend Michael Fogarty he found the patient suffering from violent alcoholic delirium.

He endeavored to quiet him with chloroform, but the attempt failed. He left the man with the police, supposing they would notify the Charities Dispensary.

Dr. Dent asserted that upon returning to the hospital he notified Police Headquarters and said he would like to remove the man, but was forbidden to do so by the hospital rule. He learned the following day that Fogarty had died.

SPLENDID MILITARY AND CIVIC PAGEANT AT CHICAGO.

Parade at the Celebration.

Vice-President Morton Reviews the Long Procession.

Black Hussars Form a Guard of Honor to Distinguished Guests.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Great throngs of people crowded all the thoroughfares from sunrise till morning.

The day was ushered in gloriously, and at an early hour the strains of many bands were heard conducting different divisions to the places assigned them for the great parade.

Every one was enthusiastic and the bright flags, the uniforms and the equipments made a splendid spectacle.

The early morning was consumed by the spectators in finding places from which to view the great parade, a matter not easily or quickly accomplished in the crowded condition of the city.

The sun, which in the gray dawn had risen red beyond the waters of Lake Michigan, disappeared later and still clouds held back the sunshine. The air was chill and a searching wind from somewhere rushed through the streets between the great buildings and people gathered warmly about the sidewalks and the sidewalks.

At the head of the parade to hold in check the dense crowd which thronged the sidewalk and forced itself into the streets were the Buffalo Soldiers, in their blue uniforms, the advance followed by Assistant Chief of Police and Inspectors Koss, Koch, Hunt, Lewis, Buchanan and Fitzpatrick.

At the head of the parade to hold in check the dense crowd which thronged the sidewalk and forced itself into the streets were the Buffalo Soldiers, in their blue uniforms, the advance followed by Assistant Chief of Police and Inspectors Koss, Koch, Hunt, Lewis, Buchanan and Fitzpatrick.

At the head of the parade to hold in check the dense crowd which thronged the sidewalk and forced itself into the streets were the Buffalo Soldiers, in their blue uniforms, the advance followed by Assistant Chief of Police and Inspectors Koss, Koch, Hunt, Lewis, Buchanan and Fitzpatrick.

At the head of the parade to hold in check the dense crowd which thronged the sidewalk and forced itself into the streets were the Buffalo Soldiers, in their blue uniforms, the advance followed by Assistant Chief of Police and Inspectors Koss, Koch, Hunt, Lewis, Buchanan and Fitzpatrick.

The Inventor of the Ice-Cart Will Try It Himself.

TICKET-OF-LEAVE MAN'S BREAK.

Aided by His Father He Made a Dash for Liberty.

James Dobbin, Jr., alias Donovan, twenty years old, of 100 Oliver street, a "ticket-of-leave" man from the Elmira Reformatory, who had violated the conditions of his parole and was arrested there by Detectives Maginias and Nugent, made a desperate effort to escape from the officers while on his way to the Tombs Police Court this morning.

MRS. HARRISON NO WEAKER.

This is the Thirty-ninth Anniversary of Her Marriage Day.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Harrison is reported to be about "just the same today." She was a trifle less restless last night, but showed no perceptible loss of strength this morning.

HALF-SISTERS OF NANCY HANKS.

Two of Them at Dr. Webb's Sale Bring $2,400.

Two daughters of Harry Medium, and half-sisters to Nancy Hanks, were sold this morning at the second day of the sale of horses from Dr. W. Seward Webb's Shelburne Farms, which is being conducted at the American Horse Exchange, Fifth street and Broadway.

TOOK A NIGHT OUT.

Mrs. Wilson Lost Her Rings and Also Her Friend, Miss White.

Lucy White, a good-looking young woman, of twenty-seven, living at 448 Grove street, Jersey City, was remained in Jersey City's First District Police Court this morning on a charge of stealing three gold rings from her friend and room-mate at Evan's Hotel, Tuesday night, Mrs. Grace Wilson, of 1521 Walton street.

MAYOR GRANT IS MUM.

Declines to Discuss an Alleged Offer of $40,000 a Year.

Mayor Grant to-day declined to affirm or deny the report that he had received an offer of the Presidency of a Louisville distillery concern at a salary of $40,000 a year.

LAST EDITION. SICKLES CAN RUN.

An Opinion by the Late Attorney-General Devens on Points Involved.

Blaine Makes His First Visit to Republican Headquarters.

Registration Figures Indicate 95,000 Plurality in This City for Cleveland.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The question of the eligibility to Congress of retired army officers, as presented in the cases of Gen. Canine and Gen. Sickles, nominated by the Democrats in New York for Congress, appears to be a new one and excites much interest at the War Department.

The legal officers of the Department say that the question has never been presented to the Department in this form, and consequently there is no precedent to serve as a basis of opinion.

In an opinion given June 11, 1877, Attorney-General Charles Devens held that "a retired officer of the army does not vacate his commission by accepting a civil office in the diplomatic and consular service."

It was said at Tammany Hall this morning that the organization would leave the question of the advisability of Gen. Sickles withdrawing from the Congressional canvass entirely to him.

The General, it is alleged, if elected, cannot take his seat without having first resigned his position as Major-General of the Army, retired, with the emoluments, amounting to nearly $8,000 a year. This is claimed under Attorney-General Miller's ruling in the case of Gen. Canine, of Brooklyn, who yesterday declined the nomination for Congress in the Third District. The ruling is based on the United States Statute which prohibits any person holding a Federal office from being eligible to a seat in Congress.

It is understood that the answer of the Tammany Hall committee to the question of Gen. Sickles' candidacy was national, not local, and that many Irish would mix up in it in any way.

It is said that Gen. McMahon has announced his intention to run for Independent Democratic candidate in Gen. Sickles' district in the fall. The Republican candidate in the district is ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles E. Conner, and Republican leaders are looking for the prospect of a three-cornered contest, which may give Irish a chance to win.

Gen. McMahon has announced his intention to run for Independent Democratic candidate in Gen. Sickles' district in the fall. The Republican candidate in the district is ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles E. Conner, and Republican leaders are looking for the prospect of a three-cornered contest, which may give Irish a chance to win.

Gen. McMahon has announced his intention to run for Independent Democratic candidate in Gen. Sickles' district in the fall. The Republican candidate in the district is ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles E. Conner, and Republican leaders are looking for the prospect of a three-cornered contest, which may give Irish a chance to win.